Dear Troy:

Thank you so much for your presentation to the Society for Human Resources Management's Kentucky State Conference last fall. Your presentation was the absolutely the highlight of our conference. You had the audience's attention from the moment you stepped on the stage. It was by far one of the best presentations we have had over the years.

Your outstanding presentation was a key component to the success of our conference. We thank you for sharing your story with us. It is without a doubt that your message touched the participants in a way that no other presentation has or will for a long time. I think that was evident by the standing ovation you received.

Again, thank you for sharing your experience and powerful message. I hope you have the opportunity to deliver this to many groups in the future.

With much thanks,

Betsy Larson
2002 Kentucky State Conference Director
