Dear Troy,

Thank you so very much for closing our 2004 Accounting, Tax, and Finance conference. With the amount of technical, numerical, and legal information provided, the attendees were thirsty for something to truly move them. You took them to the water in grand fashion!

Your story works so well in that no one can truly know what you went through, but everyone can learn from it. You set the mood so well, grabbed everyone's attention and didn't let go! I have heard such very good words from those in attendance as they return to work and are using your words and experiences to make their work and home life better everyday. The value of time you shared with us is a lesson we should already know, but now have a new perspective with which to act on!

Again, thank you so VERY much for your time, energy, and cooperation with our program. You are an ease to work with, and I look forward to crossing paths with you again. All my best to you and your family!

Sincerely,
