To Whom It May Concern:

I am pleased to recommend Troy Evans as a speaker.

When Mr. Evans spoke at our monthly HRAM meeting in August 2007, he commanded the stage with his presence and demeanor. His presentation, for Human Resource Professionals titled Internal Prisons: The Theft of Productivity is one of the most unique and remarkable presentations I have heard. Troy's philosophy of truly believing in individuals who have overcome adversity, and giving them the opportunity to make a positive impact at work, is a heartfelt and meaningful message.

Mr. Evans received extremely high remarks from our membership. These evaluation comments reflect his high ratings:

"This topic was personal as well as professional. I appreciate both perspectives. Troy was very inspirational - certainly not a dry speaker."

"One of the best stories I've ever heard. Troy is thought provoking and an excellent speaker. I hope everyone has a chance to hear him."

"Troy was very informative with a very important message. He is an outstanding speaker."

I want to wish Mr. Evans success in his future endeavors. Thank you, Mr. Evans for sharing your message with us. We look forward to hopefully bringing Troy back to present to our organization again and will continue to encourage other organizations to do the same.

Sincerely,

Sarah Schulz
